

AMSS Ltd seeks to provide maritime security safely and accountably, engaging only the most suitably experienced and qualified operators, delivering the highest standards on a global scale.

Every endeavour is made to ensure all threats and potential threats are identified, assessed and communicated. Appropriate procedures are employed to enable effective management of the identified threats.

Our policy provides the framework, which will ensure the specific security management objectives, targets and programmes to be produced which will be consistent with our overall security threat and risk management framework. These will be appropriate to the threats, the nature and scale of our operations.

We will adhere to all current, applicable legislation, regulatory and statutory requirements.

Our objectives will be documented and communicated to all relevant employees and third parties including contractors, visitors and stakeholders where appropriate and visitors to ensure that all are made aware of their individual security management-related obligations.

To this end we have made a commitment to not only adhering to the requirements ISO 9001 and ISO 28000 but exceeding them and also to include the adoption of the guidelines as outlined within ISO/PAS 28007.

By adopting this Security Management System our commitment to continual and never ending improvement in the quality and integrity of our security performance levels is clearly demonstrated.
